

An Introduction to Frontiers of Science Fellowship

We who participate in the living experiment in growth and change which is Frontiers of Science Fellowship share with you the profound desire to bring beautiful changes into this world.

We are assisting the creator Man in achieving the levels of consciousness toward which he is rapidly evolving within the Greater Creation.

We are always Creators, Being Created.
As we grow we learn to take ever more into account as our rates, scales and dimensions of observation and perception expand.
One of our most delightful observations has been that Evolution never ceases.

Frontiers of Science builds no monuments.
Our physical plane achievements are intended less as models to be physically perpetuated than as seeds which find fertile ground in those who perceive common purpose with us as Conscious Creators and navigators of the Human soul along the evolutionary journey.

We are a group which has lost its fear of love.
We find that Concerted Creation generates abundant love and allows the evolvement of infinite ways for love to manifest.

Loving and creating together dissolves the fear of making mistakes and transmutes each endeavour, whatever its outcome, into a profound learning experience.

To allow the recoil of fear to enter our lives is to acknowledge the useless contrivance called guilt, which drugs us into thinking that the quality of the present and future must somehow be determined by that which we felt, or did, or thought in the distant or recent past.

An Introduction to Frontiers of Science Fellowship

Guilt is doubly useless since it tries to dictate that there are actually feelings and thoughts which one should not experience, or take into account, or learn from.

As we audaciously grow up out of our alienation into the long-forgotten awareness that we are Creators, we have come to know that each moment is the beginning of our lives.

Always we seek to know what more there is to be,
which is not merely twice as much of what we just were.

We try to bring no conditions with our love for each other.

The experience of Concerted Creation was once our excuse to be together.

But Harmonious Nearness is the purpose of our creation and we find that as we grow up we need fewer and fewer excuses.

We observe that every significant advance in Man's consciousness has been preceded by an age during which some have chosen to take great creative risks.

In our time the most needful risk is that of profound exposure to one another.

The unconditional exchange of energies and ruthless honesty we practice with one another allow new social phenomena to occur.

Our resulting experiences frequently transcend the bounds of the heavy social conditioning still experienced by our culture at large, and expose our Civilization's conception of the Ego as obsolete.

By knowing in new ways we share an intuitive recognition, as well as a rigorous scientific knowing, of those forms of higher consciousness in the Universe which author the Way Things Work.

Our first task is always to know more about How We Know in order to know more about More.

An Introduction to Frontiers of Science Fellowship

We ask nothing of anyone who perceives no common purpose with us, nor do we ever disqualify a soul for choosing a destiny different from ours.

From those who do perceive common purpose with us, we ask only the unconditional sharing of love and concern, ruthless honesty, and the willingness to be perpetually and profoundly changing and growing every waking moment.
