

Asking of Questions

Psychic Readings

Edgar Cayce, over a span of 42 years, generated a total of 14,246 readings. There are only 15,330 days in 42 years. Some days there were no readings. That means many days he gave two, three or more readings.

Considering the span of 42 years, that constitutes a prodigious rate of information generation.

Life Readings

In that long span of time, out of those 14,246 readings, only about 2,500 of the readings were life readings.

Life readings are reports of the character and the events of the person in the context of history, much of it ancient,
more ancient than the record of any other source.

Why is it necessary to say "about" 2,500 readings?

Because some of the readings weren't only life readings.

They were both life readings and physical readings.

So, about 11,740 of the readings were physical readings (related to matters of health).

A New Kind of Question

What determined that ratio of readings?

The life readings were only generated in the last of the 42 years.

No one asked those kinds of questions in the early years.

Only when someone began asking such questions
did others begin asking the same kind of questions.

Cayce's Choice

Another reason, however, was that Cayce himself cared about physical readings, particularly for children.

The Right Questions

The life readings produced the most profound, wide ranging bodies of information about the very scheme of life.

The life readings tell us what life is for.

Gaining that information was a matter of asking the right questions.

Asking of Questions

Even when the right kind of question was asked,
the best questions were rarely posed.

The Ra Material

Similarly, with the Ra Material, what we learn is dependent upon the questions asked.
Commencing January 15th, 1981, the Social Memory Complex, Ra, began imparting information through Carla Reuckert.
The first 25 readings were devoted to the subject Secrets of the U. F. O.
The second group of readings, 27 through 50, are dedicated to the metaphysical principles which govern our spiritual evolution.

Readings from 51 through 75 deal with the nature of time / space and space / time.
This subject is also well treated in the book, Unobstructed Universe, by White.
Some of the ramifications of meditation and magic are also discussed.
The main theme, however, involves the techniques of balancing the energy centres and efficient polarization as our planet nears harvest into fourth density.

Three Approaches

Readings numbering from 76 through 103, Volume III is a commencing investigation of the nature and proper metaphysical use of the archetypal mind.

Ra states that the archetypal mind can be studied using three approaches:

- 1) the tarot,
- 2) astrology,
- 3) the tree of life.

The tree of life is white ceremonial magic.

This group of readings was published in July, 1983.

The people involved in the Ra readings decided the tarot was a valuable path for them.

The Tarot: Evolution of Mind / Body / Spirit

They began with the 22 cards of the Major Archana.
The first seven cards deal with the evolution of the mind.
The second seven deal with the evolution of the body.

Asking of Questions

The third seven cards deal with the evolution of the spirit.
Card twenty-two (22) is the choice.

Volume IV

The readings 76 through 103, deal with the "veil of forgetting".
This is the barrier between the conscious and the unconscious.

We, at DOMAIN, have bulletins from Light / Lines which carry us forward to the Fall of '89, but varied and repeated attempts to communicate, including visits to Kentucky and special delivery packages, have failed to gain a sustained connection.

There is evidence that illness may explain this in part.

Psychic attacks are discussed in the readings.

We exchange energy and pattern with anything and everything to which we direct our attention.
